

A large pheasant is captured in mid-flight against a clear blue sky, with its wings spread wide. Below it, a field of tall, golden-brown corn stalks is visible. The entire scene is framed by a white, torn-edge paper border.

Feel the rush of the flush.

Millions of pheasants thrive in the fields of South Dakota. Here it's about more than the number of birds you bag. It's about the memories you make. So, bring your best friend, your favorite dog and find yourself in South Dakota — the place where hunters come to play.

Visit our Web site and plan your South Dakota hunting trip with affordable travel specials.

WWW.HUNTINSD.COM

1.800.S.DAKOTA

